Alaska Gasline Development Corporation Names Tim Fitzpatrick Vice President, External Affairs and Government Relations

ANCHORAGE (September 4, 2018) – Alaska Gasline Development Corporation’s (AGDC) president Keith Meyer announced today that Tim Fitzpatrick will be AGDC’s vice president of external affairs and government relations, effective immediately. In this role, Mr. Fitzpatrick will guide AGDC’s external affairs and communications strategy as AGDC works to develop the infrastructure necessary to unlock the value of Alaska’s North Slope natural gas for the benefit of Alaskans.

Mr. Fitzpatrick is a communications strategist with more than twenty years of experience assisting business and policy organizations achieve their public relations objectives. He has provided communications counsel in a consulting role to clients including BP Alaska, the Alaska Oil & Gas Association, and the Alaska Support Industry Alliance. Mr. Fitzpatrick previously worked in Comcast Corporation’s corporate communications department, managing media relations for financial, merger and acquisition, regulatory and policy activities. Prior to joining Comcast, he was a senior communications advisor to a variety of political and governmental organizations, including two presidential nominating conventions, national and local political campaigns, and on Capitol Hill.

“As Alaska LNG continues to build regulatory and commercial momentum, it is imperative that we keep our stakeholders fully informed,” said AGDC president Keith Meyer. “Tim’s extensive communications experience will help AGDC keep Alaskans, elected leaders, members of the media, and potential LNG buyers and investors up-to-date with AGDC’s milestones and progress.”

In his role at AGDC, Mr. Fitzpatrick will advance AGDC’s communications objectives with in-state, national, and international stakeholders.

Mr. Fitzpatrick holds an MBA from Temple University and a bachelor’s degree from The George Washington University, and serves on the board of Alaska Theatre of Youth. He lives in Anchorage with his wife and family.
